

Moses Anshell adds national client; please pass the napkins

We love to roll up our sleeves and get our hands dirty. Now we really can since we've added Sticky Fingers Smokehouse to our roster of national accounts.

Some food is so great, it changes you for good. Sticky Fingers is known for its Memphis-style ribs, barbecue, wings and rotisserie chicken slow-smoked over aged hickory wood pits. The Charleston-based restaurant chain has 18 locations in five Southeastern states -- Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. Sticky Fingers offers five signature barbecue sauces and a dry rub that are available in the restaurants, at more than 10,000 retail locations, and through stickyfingers.com.

The restaurants have been praised by the likes of Food & Wine, The Wall Street Journal, Golf Magazine, Nation's Restaurant News, Bon Appétit, The Boston Herald, and the book Where the Locals Eat, A Guide to the Best Restaurants in America.

"It's a great opportunity for both of us," said Jos Anshell, CEO of Moses Anshell. "They have great barbecue, and a great story to tell."

You don't have to wait for Sticky Fingers to head west. Go to stickyfingers.com anytime through May 31, 2010, and enter the coupon promo code "MAfriends" to receive 20 percent off your online order.

What are you waiting for? Go get sauced!